

What Could Your Collection Be Worth?

Auction results from Potteries Auctions

Jewellery | Watches | Coins | Ceramics | Toys | Collectables | Art & More

You might be surprised what can attract strong prices at auction

That jewellery you haven't worn for years. The old watch that belonged to a parent or grandparent. A box of coins you've been meaning to look through. A tea set that's been sitting in a cupboard. Or the toys, cameras and collectables you've been meaning to clear. Whatever you have remember...

You don't need to be a collector to have something worth selling.

Jewellery & Gold

Rings, necklaces, bracelets, brooches, earrings and even broken or mismatched gold jewellery can be worth more than you think.

Watches

Vintage watches, pocket watches and familiar names such as Rolex, Omega, Tudor and Seiko can attract strong interest.

Pottery & Ceramics

Look in your cupboards for Royal Doulton, Wedgwood, Moorcroft, Beswick, Royal Crown Derby and other well-known makers.

Coins & Silver

Old coins, sovereigns, silver cutlery, teapots, trophies and other silver items can be worth considerably more than you might expect.

Toys & Collectables

Dig out those old Matchbox cars, Hornby trains, Corgi models, Star Wars figures, cameras, fountain pens and other things you've been storing away.

Not sure if your items are worth anything?

You don't need to know the maker, age or value of your item. Bring it to us and our specialists can take a look. We make the process easy:

1

The Valuer will assess your items and provide estimates and reserve prices, drawing on expertise and research

2

If you are satisfied with this advice, you can leave your items with us at the saleroom

3

You will be issued a unique vendor reference number and key details will be taken

4

Prior to the auction date, you will receive a pre-sale advice email. This email serves as a reminder, detailing reserves and estimates on your items

A large collection? We can still help value your items

If you have a significant collection, a house full of items or simply too much to bring to the saleroom, our specialists can still help you understand what you have and the best way to sell.

1

Complete our simple enquiry form and send us a few photographs and some details about your collection.

2

Our team will review the information and determine the most suitable option.

3

If you decide to sell through Potteries Auctions, we'll discuss the best way to get your items to our salerooms. For suitable larger collections, we can arrange collection or courier direct from your home.
